Itinerary

Day 1
05 Mar
Tuesday
Kolkata

City of Joy - For the people of the world, Kolkata had been nicknamed as 'the city of joy' after the infamous novel by Dominique Lappierre in 1985. But for every Bengali and the inhabitants of Kolkata, it has been thus for innumerable decades. Fabricated by art, culture, and history, beauty runs in Kolkata's lanes. Being a metropolitan city now, pace is its new ornament. A warm and welcoming city, it thrills the outsiders at first and then seems to become a part of their soul. It can thus be said that 'you may be taken out of Kolkata but Kolkata can't be taken out of you!'

On your arrival you will be transferred to our Hotel

Rest of the day is free

Hotel Peerless Inn or similar

Day 2
06 Mar
Wednesday
Kolkata

We explore the Kalighat area where we have an opportunity to learn about the mother goddess worship and the neighboring campus of Mother Teresa set up for the people who are dying. Classical example of spirituality and humanity living side by side. Free time in the late afternoon for your own activities. Later we gather together for our Dinner

Kolkata

Today, after breakfast, we explore the river side market and cross the famous Hooghly bridge along with the other commuters.

The Howrah Bridge is also thought to be the world's busiest cantilever bridge. It handles about 100,000 vehicles and more than 150,000 pedestrians every day. While the bridge remains one of the key attractions in the city, the Howrah Junction Railway Station at its Howrah end is another site of much historical significance as the country's oldest railway station. At the Kolkata end, the bridge ends right by the stunning and colorful Mallick Ghat flower market, one of the city's most vibrant markets.

Later after our lunch Break we explore the Heritage area of Kolkata

Day 11
15 Mar
Friday
Dibrugarh
Mon (Nagaland)

In the morning after breakfast, we depart to Mon district in the state of Nagaland. We drive through some of the most beautiful Tea plantations and reach Mon, where the Konyak tribals live. Situated at an altitude of 897.64 meters it is the land of the Konyaks (One of the fiercest tribes in the world). Even though there is a legal administrative system, but actually it is ruled by tribal chiefs called Anghs (locally known as 'Wang' meaning the beginning of everything). Mon is the only district in Nagaland to have this unique institution of Anghship. The word of his is law in these parts. His succession is hereditary in nature. The Konyaks believe that they were direct descendants of Noah, for they have Biblical names like Mosa, Kaisa, Aron and so on. The Konyaks are famous for their tattooed faces, blackened teeth and barbaric practice of Headhunting

Enroute, we stop at a small village for local lunch.

We arrive and check in to our Home stay. The home is led by the grand Mother and helped by her son and granddaughters. The son and the granddaughters converse in simple English. We will be exploring Mon form here.

B, L, D

Day 12
16 Mar
Saturday
Longwa
Chui

After having breakfast, we set in for a day excursion for Longwa, which is 30 miles from Mon. (2 hours drive). Longwa regarded as one of the biggest villages in Mon the unique feature of Longwa is it shares the international boundary of Myanmar and India (Half of the chief Angh's house falls in the Indian side and the other half falls in Myanmar). The Angh takes his food in India and sleeps in Myanmar's territory. Even though there is a village council to administers the village, the Angh's word is conclusive.

We return to our Home for a simple lunch and later in the afternoon, we explore Chui village which is located about 5 miles away from Mon town on the Tuensang - Mon road. Chui village still preserves its old charm. One can see the Konyak traditional houses built with palm leaves roofing with protruding out the main pillars. Chui is also famous for ethnic craftsmanship. The skill of the villagers is not confined only on bamboo and woodworks but they are prowess in gun and gunpowder making.
